FOSCARINI

Fold gets its name from the English verb to fold, an everyday action which Odoardo Fioravanti worked on while he was designing this lamp that recalls a slightly arched sheet. Its screen is slightly detached from the wall, concealing the light source and projecting a direct light upwards and reflected off. Fold is a highly versatile lamp, with both a serviceable and a decorative role. When the lamp is lit, the soft fold of the polycarbonate diffuser stands out clearly in the back light, becoming its distinguishing trait.

Even when off, Fold has an original styling value, the result of careful research and development. Pure and discrete in white, it blends in with a wide array of domestic and contract settings, alone or in a composition, to multiply its graphic effect.
